Statement

Main findings of the concurrent evaluation of IRDP (January, 1989—December, 1989)

Positive Points

About 29% of the sample beneficiaries belonged to Scheduled Castes, 16% to Scheduled Tribes and 20% women. Coverage of SC/ST was significantly higher than the stipulated target of 30% at the national level. The beneficiaries included 5% families of freed bonded labourers, 0.4% handicapped and 1% assignees of surplus land.

Primary and Tertiary Sectors were the main thrust areas covering 44% and 45% families respectively.

At the national level, 65% beneficiaries were selected at the meetings of Gram Sabhas.

In the opinion of the beneficiaries, the assets provided to them were of good quality in 80% cases.

About 83% beneficiaries had found the assistance (Subsidy + Credit) sufficient for acquiring the assets.

The assets had generated additional income (net of cost of maintenance and repayment of loan) of more than Rs. 2000 in 42% cases, between Rs. 1001 and Rs. 2000 in 18% cases and between Rs. 501 and Rs. 1000 in 9% cases.

The old beneficiaries had crossed the poverty line of Rs. 3500 in 81% cases and revised poverty line of Rs. 6400 in 28% cases at the national level.

The families belonging to the destitute and very very poor groups (whose assessed annual income was below Rs. 3500) had crossed the poverty line of Rs. 3500 in 67% cases and the revised poverty line of Rs. 6400 in 16% cases at the national level.

Areas of Concern

Ineligible families were assisted in 16% cases at the national level.

Working capital was not provided to beneficiaries in 20% cases out of 62% cases where working capital was required.

Aftercare and Government support was not made available to the beneficiaries in 53% cases out of 71% cases requiring support.

Adequate infrasturcture facility was not available to the beneficiaries in most of the cases.

The beneficiaries were not aware of the Group Life Insurance Scheme in 76% cases at national level.

The assets of the beneficiaries were not insured in 25% cases out of the 71% cases requiring insurance.

In 27% cases, the beneficiaries required replacement of the perished assets, but they were not aware/prompted in 13% cases. In the remaining 14% cases, they applied for claims but their cases could not be settled in 6% cases.

In 78% cases, TRYSEM beneficiaries were provided IRDP assistance for activities other than the activities for which they were trained under TRYSEM.

Vikas Patrika was provided to beneficiaries in 39% cases but was updated only in 24% cases.

In 26% cases the assets of the old beneficiaries did not generate any incremental income.

The findings of various evaluation studies of the IRDP indicate both positive and negative features of the Programme. Being such a large programme, spread throughout the country, it is clear that policy and administrative responses to programme management cannot be one-shot affair but have to be a continuing and dynamic exercise.
